JACK DEMPSEY—"I expect to win. Carpentier is a great fighter and I know my task is difficult. I am in splendid condition and I will do my best to end the fight as quickly as possible and keep the title at home."

GEORGES CARPENTIER—"I will take the world's boxing championship back to France. Dempsey has the advantage in weight, but not in strength or science or cleverness. I never went into a ring more confident than I am today."

Jack Dempsey proved himself the greatest fight machine in the world this afternoon when he knocked out Georges Carpentier in the fourth round.

Two vicious rights to the jaw ended the Frenchman and brought the fight to a dramatic clinch, when it looked as if it might go many more rounds.

Over one minute of the fourth round was past when Dempsey flashed his right to Carpentier's jaw and the Frenchman went down in a heap near his own corner. He took the count of nine with the slant-eyed Descamps looking at him from his corner in absolute terror. Dempsey stood three paces away from the prostrated Frenchman poised with his right hand ready to finish the task. Carpentier arose with an upper. He had arduously straightened himself when Dempsey with his jaws gritted together and looking savagely ferocious crashed his right again to the jaw. After one minute and sixteen seconds the Frenchman fell to the floor with a thud that rocked the ring. He was out. The count was not necessary.

Dempsey stood over him again partly unwilling to be fooled by a gong like he was in Toledo two years ago. He seemed to snap out of deep thought when Jack Kearns, his hand standing on end and his arms shaking like leaves rushed to him and threw his arms around him.

Kearns tried to get the champion back to his corner but he pushed him aside. Leaning over and picking up Carpentier, holding him in his arms until the frantic Frenchman Descamps climbed through the ropes and dragged the Frenchman to his corner. Carpentier was out for fully three minutes. Even when he left the ring ten minutes later he could not walk erect. He smiled when Dempsey approached him and shook hands.

"Carpentier is a fine boy and gave me a tough fight. I am going home as soon as I can," Dempsey said to a press box.

Ringside, Jersey City, July 2.—The first preliminaries started at 12:14 p. m. The contestants were Mickey Delmont, of Newark, and John Curtain, of Jersey City, bantam weights. The first preliminary boys in the ring were giving a good exhibition but beyond an occasional yell from the rim of the saucer the crowd didn't seem to pay much attention to them.

The house was filling slowly and it looked as if it might be packed by the time the champion and the Frenchman go into the ring.

Meanwhile Curtain and Delmont were milling along in the ring. Cur-

Dempsey won the fight with his terrific right body punches. He found out in the first round that he could take the much heralded right hand punch on the Frenchman, and he waged a typical Dempsey fight, pounding the Frenchman and absolutely disregarding his own defense. Dempsey's punches were quite obviously wearing down the Frenchman. In his corner after the first round Carpentier recovered and came back in the second to fight a running battle. In the middle of the second round he got a staggering right flush on Dempsey's jaw. The Frenchman lost the fight perhaps at this point. It was plain to see that he lost heart when he found himself lacking the punch to put the champion out when he was fit to fight.

In the third round Carpentier continued a running fight. He tried several fancy steps and got away when Dempsey backed him to the ropes. The third time Dempsey showed his speed and cracked Carpentier with a terrific right as he tried to get up. Dempsey with a slight motion of his head could miss the Frenchman. Carpentier landed two rights squarely on Dempsey's jaw and the champion laughed. Dempsey retaliated with body punches. The Frenchman looked at the French section of the crowd and smiled feebly. He was bleeding from his eyes and his mouth was open and the blood was running from a cut on his lip. His left eye was closing rapidly. It was strikingly apparent then, that he could not last much longer. Starting the fourth round Jack Kearns yelled from Dempsey's corner "Go after him Jack old boy, you've got him."

Dempsey, wide open and sneering at the Frenchman, went in and knocked him out. Dempsey was given a tremendous ovation. The hostilities toward him were not apparent.

Carpentier also got a great reception. He was a good loser. He smiled at the crowd and walked from the ring. The vast crowd estimated at more than ninety thousand lined up in their seats despite the rain clouds to see the Billy Mike-Jack Renault fight.

New York, July 2.—A report issued by the state controller's office shows that the estate of Andrew Carnegie has a gross appraisal value of $25,933,014 and a net value of $22,151,011.

This report shows how the famous ironmaster failed in his oft expressed wish to die poor. The fortune left was, however, only a remnant of what the Scotch emigrant boy laid up during his lifetime in America.

Constant gifts to colleges, for libraries, to pension funds, and to hero funds and other benefactions raised the total which Mr. Carnegie gave away during his lifetime to more than $350,000,000.

Mr. Carnegie died on Aug. 11, 1919, near Lenox, Mass. A list of his gifts to the world was issued at the time of his death. It showed that gifts and grants made by Mr. Carnegie and the Carnegie Foundation of New York up to June 1, 1918, aggregated $350,695,653.

Manager Descamps put up a similar sum, according to Paris cables.

Carpentier Goes to Fight in Yacht

Port Washington, July 2.—Carpentier sailed down Manhasset bay today on the private yacht "Lone Star" en route to Jersey City for his fight with Jack Dempsey.

There was such an immense throng assembled at Port Washington that plans for embarking at the dock were abandoned. Carpentier's car went to a place on the shore a short distance from the port where Carpentier boarded the Lone Star yacht.

Carpentier Up Early, Is in Fine Spirits

Manhasset, N. Y., July 2.—Georges Carpentier, eager for his fight for the championship, was up at 6:30 this morning full of pep and in high spirits.

He plunged into a cold shower, donned an old brown shirt and grey trousers, red and white checked socks and heavy walking boots and then breakfasted at 7 o'clock. Shortly after that hour the front door of the farm house where Georges lives, flew open and the young man leaped down the steps and over the wire fence.

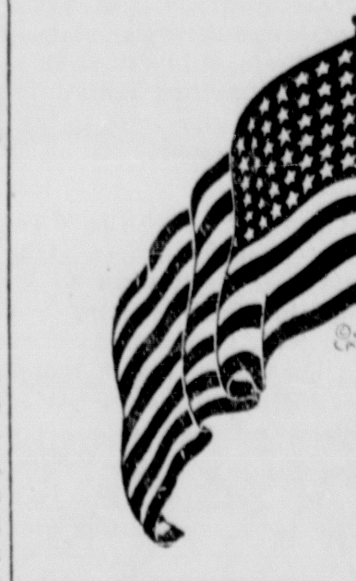

He looked like a big farmer boy and not at all like a contender for the world's championship a few hours before the biggest fight of his life. Carpentier appeared to be babbling over with good spirits.

"Good morning," he yelled in French to reporters clustered on the other side of the fence.

"Didn't you boys sleep at all last night?" He grinned broadly then hitched up the old grey pants to the knees exposing the loud checked socks and executed a shuffle while his dog leaped around him.

A minute later Carpentier darted out through the gate and ran down the road.

Chicago July 2.—Final decision as to whether the 1,500,000 railway employees of the country who started to work today for reduced wages, shall accept or reject the $400,000,000 annual wage decrease, which went into effect yesterday, will be referred to a committee of five representing 16 railroad unions.

Executives of the union reached his decision today and instructed the committee to receive reports from the various group meetings now in Chicago and formulate general recommendations to the union membership.

The committee is composed of B. M. Jewell, president of the railway employees department of the American Federation of Labor; E. H. Fitzgerald, president of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employees; L. E. Sheppard, president of the Order of Railway Conductors; E. Marion, president of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers; and W. F. Krider, president of the International Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers.

The "Big Four" brotherhoods after a short session at which the wage situation was outlined, separated, the engineers, firemen, conductors and trainmen going into separate meetings to consider the wage cut. The four groups will report back to a general session at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

Acceptance of Cut Forecast

While union leaders voiced general dissatisfaction of the rail workers toward the United States labor board's decision authorizing a wage cut, there were predictions that they will vote to abide by the order with some formal protest, these being based on the fact that the union leaders have the authority to do so, with their knowledge of industrial conditions, will not advocate swelling the ranks of the unemployed.

Chicago July 2.—Final decision as to whether the 1,500,000 railway employees of the country who started to work today for reduced wages shall accept or reject the $400,000,000 annual wage decrease, which went into effect yesterday, will be referred to a committee of five representing 16 railroad unions.

Executives of the union reached his decision today and instructed the committee to receive reports from the various group meetings now in Chicago and formulate general recommendations to the union membership.

The committee is composed of B. M. Jewell, president of the railway employees department of the American Federation of Labor; E. H. Fitzgerald, president of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employees; L. E. Sheppard, president of the Order of Railway Conductors; E. Marion, president of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers; and W. F. Krider, president of the International Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

The "Big Four" brotherhoods after a short session at which the wage situation was outlined, separated, the engineers, firemen, conductors and trainmen going into separate meetings to consider the wage cut. The four groups will report back to a general session at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

Acceptance of Cut Forecast
While union leaders voiced general dissatisfaction of the rail workers toward the United States labor board's decision authorizing a wage cut, there were predictions that they will vote to abide by the order with some formal protest, these being based on the fact that the union leaders have the authority to do so, with their knowledge of industrial conditions, will not advocate swelling the ranks of the unemployed.

BRAINERD'S ODDEST STORIES TODAY

Little Falls recorded 39-3-4 degrees above zero June 30. The government thermometer at Brainerd has not lived up to the record of Little Falls and an order has been sent in for a new one.

This is a tale regarding Chesterfield cigarettes and G. D. Collier, who pushes their sale throughout this section. Collier was in Bemidji and the thermometer registered about 119 out in the open.

Let's jump into Lake Bemidji," said Collier.

And in went Collier and his two companions. They sat in the water up to their necks. Collier then remembered his coat on the bank, got a package of Chesterfields and matchboxes and passed em to the crowd. They sat in the lake half an hour, got cooled off nicely until a wasp stung a man on the water line of his neck and spoiled the day for one in the party.

The yeggs who blew the safe of the Brainerd Creamery company at 913 Laurel street could not have been professionals, for the combination lock had not worked for years and one of the men at the creamery said the door was easily opened. The charge blew away the combination lock, but did not wreck the inner doors. Police are continuing their search for clues, etc.

Staples had a premature celebration of the Fourth. The sun shining through the plate glass window set fire to a display of fireworks and they shot off and did $1,000 damage to stock and building of Adams and Sharkey.

LINCOLN STATUE
BACK IN PLACE

SENTIMENT FORCES RETURN OF HIS FIRST MEMORIAL IN WASHINGTON TO SITE.

GOOD LIKENESS, WELL POSED

Artists and Others Find Fault With Many of the Statues of Eminent Men That Have Been Erected in the Capital City.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.
 Washington.—Sentiment in Washington has compelled the return to its former site of the statue of Abraham Lincoln which stood in front of the district court building facing John Marshall place. There was objection to the statue because it was said to be haphazard. Perhaps it was, but it was the first statue of Lincoln which was put up in the capital city, and for years was the only one. Sentiment hovered about it and now it is to be put back in the place from which adverse criticism caused its removal.

A good many men of unquestioned judgment thought that the Lincoln statue was a fine bit of art. It stood upon a tall, almost spindling pillar rising to a height of 25 feet. The tall figure of Lincoln surmounted it, and as someone expressed it, it seemed to be simply a straight line from the base of the pillar to the head of its surmounting figure. However, the statue looks like Lincoln and the pose of the figure is true to life, and therefore perhaps ought to be appealing even to an artist.

Washington has a great many statues with which fault is found, and unquestionably fault finding is well based in the cases of a considerable number of these memorials to more or less eminent men. Recently the statue of Admiral Dupont was removed from the center of Dupont circle and a beautiful memorial fountain to the old sailor was built to take its place. Nearly everybody, artist and layman, objected to the original Dupont statue.

Faults of Sherman Statue.

Fault occasionally is found with the statue of General Sherman which stands in one of the most conspicuous places in the capital. It is impossible, for the present writer is not an artist, to say whether the fault finding is well based or not, but the truth remains that viewed from one standpoint, Sherman's head looks as if it were not big enough to hold a quarter of the quantity of brains which the old soldier possessed. Viewed from another standpoint, the horse upon which the general is mounted seems to have no head at all. This statue, however, is there to stay, and perhaps its general excellencies outweigh the faults which laymen find with the work.

There are some rather sharp critics of the equestrian statue of General "Phil" Sheridan which is erected in Sheridan circle on Massachusetts avenue. It was the intention of the artist to represent Sheridan in the act of rallying his troops when he reached the front after "Sheridan's Ride" with "Winchester twenty miles away."

The horse has been brought back almost upon his haunches. The general is represented, with campaign hat in hand, giving the rallying signal. As a matter of fact one can almost hear Sheridan speak, but the critics have been at work saying this, that and the other thing about the statue. It has plenty of life in it, however, and the fact probably insures longevity for the memorial.

The best equestrian statue in the city of Washington probably is that of Gen. George H. Thomas who, mounted on his charger, appears on Thomas circle where Vermont and Massachusetts avenues cross each other. The horse is a noble creature and the statue of Thomas, himself, is appealing.

Is Logan Statue Bad?

A good deal of fault has been found with the Logan statue in Iowa circle. It is said to be haphazard to a considerable degree, but the layman never knows whether the critics, some of whom are said to be artists, are finding fault because they like to pick some flaws, or whether, strictly artistically speaking, things are all wrong with the objects of attack.

Mr. Field formerly lived in Brainerd and was then employed by the Northwestern Telephone Exchange company.

A new departure is being introduced at the First Methodist church regarding the hours of morning services during the warm weather. The church service hour has been advanced to 10:00 o'clock. The pastor will shorten the service so that the church school will meet at 11:15 instead of 12:00 o'clock as usual. Thus all morning services will be over at 12:15. This arrangement will obtain until September 1st. The evening worship hour will remain at 8 o'clock.

Notable Visitor Coming

The Swedish ambassador at Washington, A. F. Wallenberg, is spending a week in Minnesota and will make an automobile trip in company with Consul Theo. Wesen of Minneapolis that will include Brainerd and the range towns shortly after the Fourth.

BRAINERD'S ODDEST STORIES TODAY

Little Falls recorded 99-3-4 degrees above zero June 30.

The government thermometer at Brainerd has not lived up to the record of Little Falls and an order has been sent in for a new one.

This is a tale regarding Chesterfield cigarettes and G. D. Collier, who pushes their sale throughout this section. Collier was in Bemidji and the thermometer registered about 110 out in the open.

Let's jump into Lake Bemidji", said Collier.

And in went Collier and his two companions. They sat in the water up to their necks. Collier then remembered his coat on the bank, got a package of Chesterfields and matches and passed on to the crowd. They sat in the lake half an hour, got cooled off nicely until a wasp stung a man on the water line of his neck and spoiled the day for one in the party.

The yegs who blew the safe of the Brainerd Creamery company at 913 Laurel street could not have been professionals, for the combination lock had not worked for years and one of the men at the creamery said the door was easily opened. The charge blew away the combination lock, but did not wreck the inner doors. Police are continuing their search for clues, etc.

Staples had a premature celebration of the Fourth. The sun shining through the plate glass window set fire to a display of fireworks and they shot off and did $1,000 damage to stock and building of Adams and Sharkey.

LINCOLN STATUE
BACK IN PLACE

SENTIMENT FORCES RETURN OF HIS FIRST MEMORIAL IN WASHINGTON TO SITE.

GOOD LIKENESS, WELL POSED

Artists and Others Find Fault With Many of the Statues of Eminent Men That Have Been Erected in the Capital City.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.
Washington.—Sentiment in Washington has compelled the return to its former site of the statue of Abraham Lincoln which stood in front of the district court building facing John Marshall place. There was objection to the statue because it was said to be inartistic. Perhaps it was, but it was the first statue of Lincoln which was put up in the capital city, and for years was the only one. Sentiment hovered about it and now it is to be put back in the place from which adverse criticism caused its removal.

A good many men of unquestioned judgment thought that the Lincoln statue was a fine bit of art. It stood upon a tall, almost spindling pillar rising to a height of 25 feet. The tall figure of Lincoln surmounted it, and as someone expressed it, it seemed to be simply a statue set from the base of the pillar to the head of its surmounting figure. However, the statue looks like Lincoln and the pose of the figure is true to life, and therefore perhaps ought to be appealing even to an artist.

Washington has a great many statues with which fault is found, and unquestionably fault finding is well based in the cases of a considerable number of these memorials to more or less eminent men. Recently the statue of Admiral Dupont was removed from the center of Dupont circle and a beautiful memorial fountain to the old sailor was built to take its place. Nearly everybody, artist and layman, objected to the original Dupont statue.

Faults of Sherman Statue.
Fault occasionally is found with the statue of General Sherman which stands in one of the most conspicuous places in the capital. It is impossible, for the present writer is not an artist, to say whether the fault finding is well based or not, but the truth remains that viewed from one standpoint, Sherman's head looks as if it were not big enough to hold a quarter of the quantity of bradus which the old soldier possessed. Viewed from another standpoint, the horse upon which the general is mounted seems to have no head at all. This statue, however, is there to stay, and perhaps its general excellences outweigh the faults which laymen find with the work.

There are some rather sharp critics of the equestrian statue of General "Phil" Sheridan which is erected in Sheridan circle on Massachusetts avenue. It was the intention of the artist to represent Sheridan in the act of rallying his troops when he reached the front after "Sheridan's Ride" with "Winchester twenty miles away."

The horse has been brought back almost upon his haunches. The general is represented, with campaign hat in hand, giving the rallying signal. As a matter of fact one can almost hear Sheridan speak, but the critics have been at work saying this, that and the other thing about the statue. It has plenty of life in it, however, and the fact probably insures longevity for the memorial.

The best equestrian statue in the city of Washington probably is that of Gen. George H. Thomas who, mounted on his charger, appears on Thomas circle where Vermont and Massachusetts avenues cross each other. The horse is a noble creature and the statue of Thomas, himself, is appealing.

Is Logan Statue Bad?

A good deal of fault has been found with the Logan statue in Iowa circle. It is said to be inartistic to a considerable degree, but the layman never knows whether the critics, some of whom are said to be artists, are finding fault because they like to pick some flaws, or whether, strictly critically speaking, things are all wrong with the objects of attack.

MADE THEM HAPPY
Elks and Rhoda Royal Bring Sun shine in Farm Home on July 4th

Included in the big crowd of 6000 at the Rhoda Royal circus Monday will be three supremely happy youngsters, who until today thought they would have to stay at home because of the fact that abject poverty has gripped the household. These little ones live on a farm. Their parents are very poor—so poor that family has only the bare necessities of life.

When the circus bills were posted the children, of course, wanted assurance that they would attend. Sorrowfully the father and mother told them that there was no money to buy tickets. The little ones were heartbroken.

Yesterday J. H. Alderman, Brainerd business man, and member of the Elks celebration committee heard of the plight of the family and learned of the desire of the little ones to see the circus.

"The children live twelve miles out in the country but I will take my car and drive out for them Monday," said Mr. Alderman.

"And Mr. Royal will give them free tickets, the best seats and all the popcorn, peanuts, candy and red lemonade they can consume" promised Herbert S. Maddy, the circus man's personal representative.

So these little ones will have a whole world of joy and sunshine injected into their cheerless lives.

For a day, at least, they will be happy.

Hagen-Maine
On Friday afternoon Reuben Hagen and Blanche Maine were married by Rev. O. S. Winther at the parsonage of Bethlehem Lutheran church of South Seventh street. The young couple will reside at their farm near Pequot.

The Ladies Aid of the Zion Evangelical Lutheran church, of Main and Broadway, numbering fifty persons, motored from Brainerd to the E. Kleinschmidt farm at South Long lake. A chicken supper was served and games played Thursday afternoon.

Odd Russian Belter.
One of the strange tales told throughout Russia is that Czar Alexander I did not die at Taganron on the Don in 1825, as was popularly supposed, but permitted the body of a soldier to be buried, then stole away to Tomsk, where he lived to an old age as a religious hermit.

RHODA ROYAL CIRCUS BAND

To Give a Concert on Lawn in Front of New Park Theatre on Sunday Evening, July 3

WILEY B. SCOTT IS THE LEADER
Six Selections Will Demonstrate the Musicianship and Training of Concert Band

The Rhoda Royal circus band will give a concert Sunday evening, July 3, on the lawn in front of the New Park theatre, chairs being placed there through the courtesy of Clyde E. Parker, chairman of the Elk's house and social committee.

The musicianship and training of the bandmen will be exemplified in this program of six numbers, Wiley B. Scott officiating as bandmaster:

1—"March," "Barnum and Bailey's Favorite," by K. L. King.

2—"Il Guarany," overture, by A. Carlo Gomez.

3—"Atlantis," suite in four parts, by V. P. Safranek.

4—"Oberon," overture, by C. M. Weber.

5—"A Vision of Salome," descriptive fantasia, by J. Bodewalt Lampe.

6—"Songs of Scotland," grand selection of Scottish folk songs and dances, by J. Bodewalt Lampe.

Englishmen Are Now Popular in Germany

By CARL D. GROAT,
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Oppeln, Upper Silesia (By Mail)—The one-time German hate of England has turned to something akin to love. Proof of this is to be found anywhere amongst the German population of Upper Silesia. One needs only to ask a German what he thinks of the English attitude toward Germany in the Silesian question to learn that he is highly pleased. And one needs only to see how the German, for the most part, has willingly obeyed any and all commands or wishes of the English controllers to learn that the hymn of hate has turned to praise.

And, while the Englishman hasn't learned to love the German he has a better feeling for him hereabouts than he has for the Pole or even for his allied brother, the Frenchman. In fact the relations between Frenchmen and Englishmen in this neck of the woods are about as pleasant as those of a couple of strange bulldogs, even though the outward conduct and proprieties are observed.

I talked the other day with a high English officer in one of the unpleasantest communities of this whole topsyturvy district.

"The Germans were threatening to start an offensive, and were even talking of beating up the French," he told me. "I overheard the conversations, talked with the German headquarters in Oppeln and with the city authorities. All assured me they would give orders to subside. And,

do you know it is remarkable how quickly they quit and went home when they heard that the Britisher wanted that."

Then there was the case of Maj. MaKay at Gleiwitz. The Germans were threatening a clash with the French who had already brought out tanks. MaKay came out, talked a moment to the crowd, who, to his embarrassment carried him away on their shoulders, and then finally, upon his urgent request for dispersal, went back home leaving the excited Frenchmen with nothing to do.

Still another similar incident occurred to an English colonel, who told me afterward, "I can't love the Germans—far from it for they killed three of my brothers in the war. But, the situation here is simply driving me into their arms."

Still another told me, "The Germans will do whatever we want them to. They have shown good restraint and discipline on the whole and have surely striven to meet our wishes and demands."

And, when one talks with Germans he learns that they have the greatest affection for the English soldiers.

It's somewhat picturesque to see a "Jock"—one of the Black Watch soldiers—fraternizing with a German "Apo"—or plebsicite policeman—over a glass of beer. But it happens.

And, its another picture to see on the road from here to Stahendorf a stolid German and his frau giving a few Jicks a "Jiff" in their ancient haywagon. And, yet again, its a picture to see a Britisher trying to teach a German the intricacies of soccer football. Or to see children and women showering the highlanders with flowers on their way through Oppeln.

It is indeed, a long cry from "Gott strafe England" to "Gott sei dank" for English troops, come to rescue Germans.

AT THE PARK

Today will be the last showing at the New Park theatre of that clever comedy romance, "Lessons in Love," with pretty Constance Talmadge as the star. It is an unusually big picture for one in light vein, and shows this favorite star in one of her brightest moods. With it is given a return engagement, by special request, of that awfully funny comedy, "April Fool" showing the very funniest ocean voyage ever taken by a party.

The New Park management is more than pleased with the way in which the new cooling system worked out, during a hot spell unprecedented for the last twenty years. It really did more than was claimed for it, keeping a large audience much cooler than they could have been anywhere else in the city, even at their own homes. The New Park is putting in an entire new heating plant also, which is going to be as much of a success in giving winter comfort to patrons as the cooling device is giving comfort now.

These little ones live on a farm. Their parents are very poor—so poor that family has only the bare necessities of life.

When the circus bills were posted the children, of course, wanted assurance that they would attend. Sorrowfully the father and mother told them that there was no money to buy tickets. The little ones were heartbroken.

Yesterday J. H. Alderman, Brainerd business man, and member of the Elks celebration committee heard of the plight of the family and learned of the desire of the little ones to see the circus.

"The children live twelve miles out in the country but I will take my car and drive out for them Monday," said Mr. Alderman.

"And Mr. Royal will give them free tickets, the best seats and all the popcorn, peanuts, candy and red lemonade they can consume" promised Herbert S. Maddy, the circus man's personal representative.

So these little ones will have a whole world of joy and sunshine injected into their cheerless lives.

For a day, at least, they will be happy.

Odd Russian Belter.

One of the strange tales told throughout Russia is that Czar Alexander I did not die at Taganron on the Don in 1825, as was popularly supposed, but permitted the body of a soldier to be buried, then stole away to Tomsk, where he lived to an old age as a religious hermit.

Englishmen Are Now Popular in Germany

By CARL D. GROAT,

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Oppeln, Upper Silesia (By Mail)—

The one-time German hate of England has turned to something akin to love. Proof of this is to be found anywhere amongst the German population of Upper Silesia. One needs only to ask a German what he thinks of the English attitude toward Germany in the Silesian question to learn that he is highly pleased. And one needs only to see how the German, for the most part, has willingly obeyed any and all commands or wishes of the English controllers to learn that the hymn of hate has turned to praise.

And, while the Englishman hasn't learned to love the German he has a better feeling for him hereabouts than he has for the Pole or even for his allied brother, the Frenchman. In fact the relations between Frenchmen and Englishmen in this neck of the woods are about as pleasant as those of a couple of strange birds, even though the outward conduct and propensities are observed.

I talked the other day with a high English officer in one of the unpleasant communities of this whole topsyturvy district.

"The Germans were threatening to start an offensive, and were even talking of beating up the French," he told me. "I overheard the conversations, talked with the German headquarters in Oppeln and with the city authorities. All assured me they would give orders to subside. And,

do you know it is remarkable how quickly they quit and went home when they heard that the Britisher wanted that."

Then there was the case of Maj. McKay at Gielwitz. The Germans were threatening a clash with the French who had already brought out tanks. McKay came out, talked a moment to the crowd, who, to his embarrassment carried him away on their shoulders, and then finally, upon his urgent request for dispersal, went back home leaving the excited Frenchmen with nothing to do.

Still another similar incident occurred to an English colonel, who told me afterward, "I can't leave the Germans—far from it for they killed three of my brothers in the war. But the situation here is simply driving me into their arms."

Still another told me, "The Germans will do whatever we want them to. They have shown good restraint and discipline on the whole and have surely striven to meet our wishes and demands."

And, when one talks with Germans he learns that they have the greatest affection for the English soldiers.

It's somewhat picturesque to see a "Jock"—one of the Black Watch soldiers—fraternizing with a German "Apo"—or plebeian policeman—over a glass of beer. But it happens. And, its another picture to see on the road from here to Stabendorf a stolid German and his frau giving a few Jicks a "lift" in their ancient haywagon. And, yet again, its a picture to see a Britisher trying to teach a German the intricacies of soccer football. Or to see children and women showering the highlanders with flowers on their way through Oppeln. It is indeed, a long cry from "Gott strafe England" to "Gott sei dank" for English troops, come to rescue Germans.

AT THE PARK

Today will be the last showing at the New Park theatre of that clever comedy romance, "Lessons in Love," with pretty Constance Talmadge as the star. It is an unusually big picture for one in light vein, and shows this favorite star in one of her brightest moods. With it is given a return engagement, by special request, of that awfully funny comedy, "April Fool" showing the very funniest ocean voyage ever taken by a party.

The New Park management is more than pleased with the way in which the new cooling system worked out, during a hot spell unprecedented for the last twenty years. It really did more than was claimed for it, keeping a large audience much cooler than they could have been anywhere else in the city, even at their own homes. The New Park is putting in an entire new heating plant also, which is going to be as much of a success in giving winter comfort to patrons as the cooling device is giving comfort now.

WAR TIME GRAFT

Another branch of the national administration has thrown its hat into the ring with reference to the purchases made by the army and navy. The department of justice has issued a statement to the effect that it has been making investigations of "war time graft." The attorney general says that he does not desire to cast any reflection "on any honest man, but it is equally desired that any dishonest person shall be brought to justice." Denying any intention "to undertake any muck raking proposition," the attorney general said that "in the war period, when everybody was expected to stand by the government, how can we justify sending a lot of boys and men to prison for antagonizing the government in organizing an army and then let the men go free who have been guilty of dishonorable practices? We are not going to look for the little fellows," continued the statement, "We will throw back the minnows caught in the net. Actual investigations are now under way. A great many of the big war contracts have been called to our attention. The reports of the special investigation committees of Congress have been brought to our attention and will be helpful."

The closing paragraph in the foregoing is significant because the investigation by congress has unearthed matters in which the government has been worsted in amounts computed in millions. The Muscle Shoals project in Alabama is prominently featured in the report. On the other hand private interests connected with that project have set forth a very vigorous defense. As a matter of fact all concerned are prepared with alibis, and the attorney general comments upon the difficulties which are before him due to the fact that all of these contractors have engaged the best attorneys in the country to defend them.

SUGAR EATERS

Sugar consumption in the United States will make a new high record in the fiscal year ending with this month. The quantity imported from foreign countries says a statement by the National City bank, of New York, was greater in the 10 months for which figures are now available than in the corresponding period of any preceding year. The domestic production of the year was bigger than ever before and the exportation only about half that of the corresponding 10 months of the preceding year. These official figures of the month's imports and exports, plus the domestic production for which a record is already established, adds the bank's statement, give a net total available for consumption so much in excess of any earlier year that we may not be surprised if the official figures showing the average per capita consumption in the fiscal year 1921 run up nearly to 100 pounds per capita, against 91½ pounds per capita in the fiscal year 1920, the former high record year; 82 pounds in 1919, and 89 pounds per capita in the high record pre-war year 1914.

ARMY AND NAVY JUNK

The new shipping board finds that they have been given a liability rather than an asset to manage for the government. There are 684 steel ships of 4,469,000 tons laid up, to say nothing of 275 idle wooden ships practically in the scrap heap. Charles M. Schwab formerly director general of the emergency fleet corporation, has expressed the opinion that it would be good business to charge off two-thirds of the cost of the emergency fleet, which was $3,000,000,000, and sell the ships to private owners. It is estimated that the new shipping board will make sales of their surplus ships at about one-third of the original cost. A good many sales have heretofore been made at a much smaller figure. The shipping board seems to have been assigned the job of running a tremendous junk shop for the United States navy. Gradually people are awakening to the fact that it is as impracticable to carry on a great shipping business with the boats that have lived through the war period as it would be to maintain bus and jitney lines by the use of the automobiles and trucks which the army used in this country and in Europe.

Secretary of War John W. Weeks, in speaking of his job, said that he was "disposing of army material bought extravagantly and recklessly, which is being sold far below cost."

Sportsmen Plan to Meet at Gull Lake On July Fourteenth

(St. Cloud Journal Press)

The annual meeting of the state association of hunting and fishing clubs to be held at Brainerd on July 14 and 15, will be held at Rocky Point Gull lake. H. C. Eldred and Steve Tennoerde are the delegates from the Roosevelt Hunting and Fishing club. Several thousand will attend the meeting. It is expected. All members are invited together with their families.

The Roosevelt Hunting and Fishing club has spent recently about $400 installing concrete tanks near the pumping station for the rearing of trout fry. At Grand Lake spawning beds covering an area of about thirty acres have been staked off at a cost of $100.

E. W. Cobb of the state game and fish department said on a visit to St. Cloud recently that the Grand Lake spawning bed was one of the best he knew of and complimented the local club highly upon the good work it had done, especially in view of its membership and low membership fee.

At the Lyceum

When watching a thrilling outdoor adventure picture in which dangerous wild animals act, as they do in Benjamin B. Hampton's novel, "The Man of the Forest," the newest Hopkinson release which will be shown at the Lyceum theatre next Monday and Tuesday, July 4th and 5th, have you ever wondered how these animals were handled while being filmed?

In "The Man of the Forest," a bear and a puma, or mountain lion, are used. Both puma and bear figure in many scenes of the picture, and the big "cat" especially required careful handling. Of course its trainer, Charles Murphy, was present. Mr. Murphy, who also acts a part in the picture, is a noted animal trainer who under a colorful Italian name once held forth with lions, tigers and panthers in the Orpheum circuit and with Barrum & Bailey.

Repertoire Company at Park Theater

A contract has just been made with Lorange's Hans Hanson players, for a run of a week, matinee and night, at the New Park theatre beginning Monday July 11. The company is a large and capable one, and puts on a repertoire of successful plays sufficient to have the bill change every day, giving a complete new bill seven times during the engagement. As a special feature to celebrate the opening, Mr. Lorange and Mr. Workman have arranged to give a "Ladies Free" day, the opening day, when the fair sex will be given a chance to pass their opinion upon the merits of the company. The regular vaudeville Thursday will not be interfered with.

At Lyceum Sunday

"While the Devil Laughs," a William Fox production with Louise Lovely won her way to stellar honors through sheer dramatic ability, and her new starring vehicle, the third for Fox, is said to provide every opportunity for the young actress to display the emotional talents that landed her in the Fox constellation.

Moving pictures will be taken in front of the Lyceum 4th of July morning at 10 a. m. All are invited to get in the movies.

JULY FOURTH CELEBRATION NOTES

The Trades & Labor Assembly at its meeting held Tuesday endorsed the idea of having unions represented in the Fourth of July parade. P. T. Brown, vice president of the State Federation of Labor and a member of the assembly, so informed the Dispatch on Friday evening. It is hoped the unions and the assembly will have representation in the parade as the Fourth is a community affair.

The circus ticket sale has been progressing nicely. They have been placed on sale in over a dozen towns and communities and a canvass is now in progress in Brainerd.

The H. P. Michael Co. store had such a run for hunting that they laid in a new stock, just received on Saturday morning.

Stores in town are busy Saturday, people buying enough supplies to carry them over Sunday and the Fourth. And then many Brainerd people are expecting company because this will be the first time in ten years that Brainerd had a 4th of July celebration.

The Brainerd Speedwells play Fort Ripley at the new grounds near the South Sixth street mine July 3 and 4. Both teams have been asked to march in the parade. Brainerd batteries will be Molstad, Stallman and Gaskill.

Art Hagberg, parade captain appointed in Long Lake township reported to Grand Marshal Anderson this morning that he would be in Brainerd Monday with an enormous delegation. Mr. Hagberg said nearly every man, woman and child in the township would be here.

The Brainerd Motor Express company will have two trucks in the parade. One of these is the largest ever brought into Crow Wing county.

The Elks will sell circus tickets Monday from a booth which will be erected in the Y. M. C. A. grounds. Buy here and avoid the rush at the circus ticket wagons on the grounds.

"Queen of the Circus," the beautiful cow the Elks will give away at the circus, will have a prominent position in the parade. The "Queen" says she hopes she will go to an owner who will be kind and gentle to her. Before she is given away the cow will get into the moving pictures which will be taken of the crowd and the parade and which will later be shown on the screen at the New Park theatre.

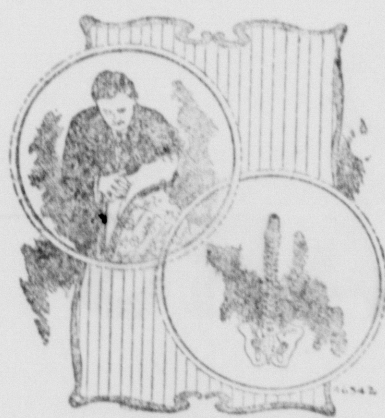

The O'Brien Mercantile company will have two displays in the parade.

The Boy Scouts met with Chief of Police Charles Varner this afternoon. The chief instructed them in traffic regulations. The boys will help the officers handle the huge crowds Monday.

Everything is in readiness for the arrival of the Rhoda Royal three ring circus. The show trains are due in Brainerd at daylight tomorrow morning. Sunday visitors will be welcome at the grounds on White Park. During the afternoon the elephants will be given a bath in the river.

Tomorrow the Rhoda Royal circus employees will have chicken and dumplings for dinner. The O'Brien Mercantile company is furnishing one hundred and twenty-five pounds of chicken for the meal.

A wonderful exhibit of the state highway and local road making machinery will be shown in the parade. It is expected to have caterpillar

Pick 'Em For Others; Not For Himself

(By United Press)

Los Angeles, July 2.—Martha A. Padley doesn't understand the principles of advertising, nor how unpleasant misdirected publicity can be. Benjamin W. Padley, Martha's husband thinks so at least. Benjamin knows about matrimony.

Martha is suing him for divorce. Not only that but she is telling the world the things Benjamin doesn't know about matrimony.

It's all being threshed out in Judge J. Perry Wood's divorce court, a setting not new to either Benjamin or Martha. They were divorced once before. That was immediately before the police had locked up Benjamin's brokerage office on complaint of neighboring tenants, and incarcerated its proprietor and several of his too-affectionate clients for a time.

The Padleys, however, remarried, and once more the marriages-to-order shingle was hung out on Benjamin's doorstep.

All would have been well, probably, if Mrs. Padley had not overheard her spouse make an untimely, not to say, tactless remark to the effect that while he could pick 'em for other people all right, he'd certainly make a poor choice in the matrimonial grab bag himself.

Repertoire Company at Park Theater

A contract has just been made with Leranger's Hans Hanson players, for a run of a week, matinee and night, at the New Park theatre beginning Monday July 11. The company is a large and capable one, and puts on a repertoire of successful plays sufficient to have the bill change every day, giving a complete new bill seven times during the engagement. As a special feature to celebrate the opening, Mr. Lorange and Mr. Workman have arranged to give a "Ladies Free" day, the opening day, when the fair sex will be given a chance to pass their opinion upon the merits of the company. The regular vaudeville Thursday will not be interfered with.

At Lyceum Sunday

"White the Devil Laughs," a William Fox production with Louise Lovely won her way to stellar honors through sheer dramatic ability, and her new starring vehicle, the third for Fox, is said to provide every opportunity for the young actress to display the emotional talents that landed her in the Fox constellation.

Moving Pictures Taken

Moving pictures will be taken in front of the Lyceum 4th of July morning at 10 a. m. All are invited to get in the movies.

JULY FOURTH CELEBRATION NOTES

The Trades & Labor Assembly at its meeting held Tuesday endorsed the idea of having unions represented in the Fourth of July parade. P. T. Brown, vice president of the State Federation of Labor and a member of the assembly, so informed the Dispatch on Friday evening. It is hoped the unions and the assembly will have representation in the parade as the Fourth is a community affair.

The circus ticket sale has been progressing nicely. They have been placed on sale in over a dozen towns and communities and a canvass is now in progress in Brainerd.

The H. F. Michael Co. store had such a run for bunting that they laid in a new stock, just received on Saturday morning.

Stores in town are busy Saturday, people buying enough supplies to carry them over Sunday and the Fourth. And then many Brainerd people are expecting company because this will be the first time in ten years that Brainerd had a 4th of July celebration.

The Brainerd Speedwells play Fort Kiley at the new grounds near the South Sixth street mine July 3 and 4. Both teams have been asked to march in the parade. Brainerd batteries will be Molstad, Stallman and Gaskill.

Art Hagberg, parade captain appointed in Long Lake township reported to Grand Marshal Anderson this morning that he would be in Brainerd Monday with an enormous delegation. Mr. Hagberg said nearly every man, woman and child in the township would be here.

The Brainerd Motor Express company will have two trucks in the parade. One of these is the largest ever brought into Crow Wing county.

The Elks will sell circus tickets Monday from a booth which will be erected in the Y. M. C. A. grounds. Buy here and avoid the rush at the circus ticket wagons on the grounds.

"Queen of the Circus," the beautiful cow the Elks will give away at the circus, will have a prominent position in the parade. The "Queen" says she hopes she will go to an owner who will be kind and gentle to her. Before she is given away the cow will get into the moving pictures which will be taken of the crowd and the parade and which will later be shown on the screen at the New Park theatre.

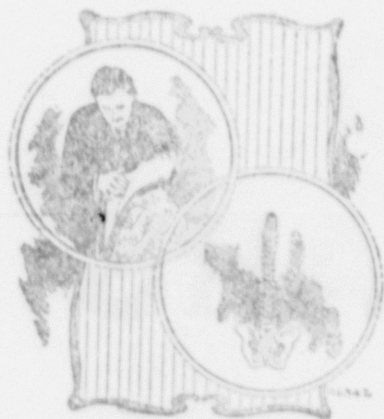

The O'Brien Mercantile company will have two displays in the parade.

The Boy Scouts met with Chief of Police Charles Varner this afternoon. The chief instructed them in traffic regulations. The boys will help the officers handle the huge crowds Monday.

Everything is in readiness for the arrival of the Rhoda Royal three ring circus. The show trains are due in Brainerd at daylight tomorrow morning. Sunday visitors will be welcome at the grounds on White Park. During the afternoon the elephants will be given a bath in the river.

Tomorrow the Rhoda Royal circus employees will have chicken and dumplings for dinner. The O'Brien Mercantile company is furnishing one hundred and twenty-five pounds of chicken for the meal.

A wonderful exhibit of the state highway and local road making machinery will be shown in the parade. It is expected to have caterpillar

The Elks quartet will sing at the exercise in depot park. The quartet is composed of A. C. Mraz, Roland Jenkins, Harry Fullerton and Clarence Hooker. Mr. Hooker takes the place of S. F. Alderman who is not in town. They will lead in singing the "Star Spangled Banner," in which band, church choruses and the community at large take part.

Pick 'Em For Others; Not For Himself

(By United Press)

Los Angeles, July 2.—Martha A. Padley doesn't understand the principles of advertising, nor how unpleasant misdirected publicity can be. Benjamin W. Padley, Martha's husband thinks so at least. Benjamin knows about matrimony.

Martha is suing him for divorce. Not only that but she is telling the world the things Benjamin doesn't know about matrimony.

It's all being threshed out in Judge J. Perry Wood's divorce court, a setting not new to either Benjamin or Martha. They were divorced once before. That was immediately before the police had locked up Benjamin's brokerage office on complaint of neighboring tenants, and incarcerated its proprietor and several of his too-affectionate clients for a time.

The Padleys, however, remarried, and once more the marriages-to-order shingle was hung out on Benjamin's doorstep.

All would have been well, probably, if Mrs. Padley had not overheard her spouse make an untimely, not to say, tactless remark to the effect that while he could pick 'em for other people all right, he'd certainly made a poor choice in the matrimonial grab bag himself.

Lalla Rookh.

The story of Lalla Rookh in short is this: She was the supposed daughter of Aurangzeb, emperor of Delhi. She was betrothed to Alir, sultan of Lesser Bucharra. On her journey from Delhi to Cashmere she was entertained by Feramor, a young Persian poet, with whom she fell in love, and unbounded was her delight when she discovered that the young poet was the sultan to whom she was betrothed. The story is beautifully told by the Irish poet, Tom Moore. The title of the poem is "Lalla Rookh."

VALUE OF FINGER PRINTS IS SHOWN

AIDS POLICE IN MAKING THEM
Finger Prints Do Not Tell Your Fortune or Character But Aid to Identify You

For the first time in the history of Brainerd police records finger print records were taken at the Brainerd Creamery company 913 Laurel street, where yeggs blew off the safe door.

The police were assisted by E. F. Hedem of Souris, N. D., a nephew of A. S. Peterson of the Commercial State bank of Brainerd. He took a course in this science.

In referring to finger prints, Mr. Hedem said:

"Some persons appear to think that the business of finger print records, securing and preserving them is only useful in chasing criminals. But in ordinary every day life recording your finger print serves to identify you. We know not when the sunshine of reason may be clouded. Aphasia and amnesia, mental ills so frequently heard of, or accidents may leave a man or woman in a critical condition among strangers.

"In this country in 1918, 40,000 unidentified bodies were buried. Judgment day, only, will reveal their identity. And thousands of others were taken to hospitals and asylums, with only a 'John Doe' or 'Mary Doe' to record their presence and identity.

"Finger prints do not indicate or tell character. A finger print does not show the kind of person it belongs to; but it does show irrefutably that it belongs to him and to him only.

"For upon the fingers of every man, woman and child, of all nationalities, races, colors, and creeds, is the indelible sign of their own identity. Inevitable, persisting from the day of birth until the time of the body's final disintegration after death, this unforgettable signature, written in nature's own intricate penmanship, is stamped upon the finger prints of every member of the human family.

A Cheerful Note.

"All things are full of iniquity and vice; more crime is committed than can be remedied by restraint. We struggle in a huge contest of criminality. Daily the passion for sin is greater. The shame in committing it is less." . . . This is not the outcry of one who looks with alarm upon the orgies of the profiteers, the operations of the auto bandits, the greed of landlords, and the pernicious activities of the grafters, gamblers, market manipulators and crooked politicians. It is the philosopher Seneca's description of conditions in Rome 2,000 years ago.

When He Quit.

THE TOWNLEY-LANGER DEBATES

DEAR EDITOR:

There seems to be little question but that the Townley-Langer debates are not on the square but are simply a cheap, money-making scheme. They were to have debated in Long Prairie yesterday. All arrangements were under the direction of local League politicians. They asked for the use of the fair grounds. The fair board offered them the grounds free, the local Delco agent offered to light the grounds free, both offers contingent upon the debate being free to everybody could hear it. The offer was turned down and the debate was not held. "No gate receipts, no debate" seems to be the motto. I am reliably informed that Langer gets a straight salary by the month from the League to act as a foil for Townley. The League takes all the gate receipts. They have been taking in from $200 to $300 per day. As a money-maker it beats the $1 proposition to death. While here Langer indicated no interest in the proceedings at all. Townley did all the arranging. They arrived in same car and left in same car. These facts ought to be given wide publicity so as to protect your constituency from the new graft.

Aphasia and amnesia, mental ills so frequently heard of, or accidents may leave a man or woman in a critical condition among strangers.

"In this country in 1918, 40,000 unidentified bodies were buried. Judgment day, only, will reveal their identity. And thousands of others were taken to hospitals and asylums, with only a 'John Doe' or 'Mary Doe' to record their presence and identity.

"Finger prints do not indicate or tell character. A finger print does not show the kind of person it belongs to; but it does show irrefutably that it belongs to him and to him only.

"For upon the fingers of every man, woman and child, of all nationalities, races, colors, and creeds, is the indelible sign of their own identity. Inevitable, persisting from the day of birth until the time of the body's final disintegration after death, this unforgettable signature, written in nature's own intricate penmanship, is stamped upon the finger prints of every member of the human family.

A Cheerful Note.

"All things are full of iniquity and vice; more crime is committed than can be remedied by restraint. We struggle in a huge contest of criminality. Daily the passion for sin is greater. The shame in committing it is less." This is not the outcry of one who looks with alarm upon the orgies of the profiteers, the operations of the auto bandits, the greed of landlords, and the pernicious activities of the grafters, gamblers, market manipulators and crooked politicians. It is the philosopher Seneca's description of conditions in Rome 2,000 years ago.

THE TOWNLEY-LANGER DEBATES

DEAR EDITOR:

There seems to be little question but that the Townley-Langer debates are not on the square but are simply a cheap, money-making scheme. They were to have debated in Long Prairie yesterday. All arrangements were under the direction of local League politicians. They asked for the use of the fair grounds. The fair board offered them the grounds free, the local Delco agent offered to light the grounds free, both offers contingent upon the debate being free so everybody could hear it. The offer was turned down and the debate was not held. "No gate receipts, no debate" seems to be the motto. I am reliably informed that Langer gets a straight salary by the month from the League to act as a fall for Townley. The League takes all the gate receipts. They have been taking in from $200 to $800 per day. As a money-maker it beats the $15 proposition to death. While here Langer indicated no interest in the proceedings at all—Townley did all the arranging. They arrived in same car and left in same car. These facts ought to be given wide publicity so as to protect your constituency from the new graft.

FIGHT FANS GATHER EARLY IN HUGE JERSEY CITY STADIUM

Both Camps Confident As Fight Hour Draws Near, But
Dempsey Is Favorite

By HENRY L. FARRELL,
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Jersey City, N. J., July 2.—Jersey City teemed today with the eruptions of a human volcano.

It seemed that every soul in the world and his relatives were pouring out of holes in the ground to see Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier decide the heavyweight championship of the world.

Tube trains rolling under the Hudson River at minute intervals were jammed from early morning. Ferries on fast schedules carried their thousands of pedestrians and hundreds of automobiles. Trains from the west dumped dusty, travel stained passengers from adjoining states and cities.

Before dawn the usual world's series spectacle was presented outside the huge wooden octagon which Tex Rickard pitched on "Boyle's Thirty Acres" for the big international battle between the American champion and the French war hero and national idol.

Thousands of men and women and children were in the lines extending for blocks away from the windows where general admission tickets were passed out for five dollars. The line leaders, most of whom brought stools camp chairs and lunch baskets, apparently thought nothing of an all night wait to get a place in the big bowl far back from the ring in which the two contestants would look like two miniaturs.

Two thousand police, including the Jersey City police force, with additions from New York, Newark and the pick of the sleuths from all the big western cities and mounted state troops preserved order in the crowds and kept the traffic moving on the narrow streets.

Ticket holders who had paid from $10 to $15 for a reserved seat also started filling their places early in the morning stocked with newspapers and magazines to pass away the time.

Listening to the talk every place it was hard to believe that the thousands, it seemed like millions had come to see the fight. It sounded more like the fight was over that the battle had been fought and that the American had finished the Frenchman.

Bets of four to one and five to one that Dempsey would win found no takers. Those with money to wager liked better to back their judgment on the round that it would happen in and how it would take place. Few seemed to figure the Frenchman as having a chance.

Statements from both camps declared the fighters to be in perfect condition to do twelve rounds for a half million dollars or more. Managers of both also expressed their confidence in winning.

"The champion is in perfect physical condition and he is not suffering with nerves. We expect to win just as soon as possible," Jack Kearns manager of the champion said.

"Carpentier is fit and ready to fight the greatest battle of his life. We have the greatest confidence. The fight will not last long," Francois Decamps, manager of the Frenchman said.

Weights of the two principals were not announced this morning but it was expected that the champion would weigh around 190 pounds with the challenger around 175 pounds.

The champion, who moved up to a private home here from his training camp in Atlantic City kept out of sight. Teddy Hayes, his chief trainer, said he took his usual morning exercise, but he was not seen or at least not recognized by any of the crowd. No one except a few chosen friends and some newspapermen were permitted around Dempsey's quarters.

U. S. Leading in Race For South America Trade

By A. J. WEST,
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

London, July 2.—South America is today the brightest jewel in the diadem of trading nations and one of the keenest struggles in the history of commerce is now in progress for possession of a priceless treasure.

This is the opinion of Sir Kingsley Wood, M. P., parliamentary private secretary to the Minister of Health, and an authority on South American trade and affairs.

"The championship is being played mainly in the Argentine Republic," said Sir Kingsley. "The stakes are 100,000,000 pounds and for the moment the United States is winning."

"Great Britain, it is only fair to say, was once the undisputed champion, nor need she be afraid of the reason why she was thrown off her form. It was the war that turned the Argentine competition upside down. It found us first and America second; it left us second; and America first. Not less significant, it sent Japan shooting ahead of Germany, France, Italy and Belgium."

"The arrival of Japan is a surprising event to many Englishmen. In 1915 she sold to Argentina just over 200,000 pounds worth of wares. For the first six months of 1919 the total had leapt up to 3,450,000 pounds and it continues to rise. Chiefly it is a trade in cotton yarn, cotton drill, silk handkerchiefs, glossy silk, calico, socks and an assortment of tops, buttons and lead pencils. Japan, moreover, has opened a bank at Buenos Aires, while several Japanese merchants are now in business there, and she has a line of steamers sailing regularly to the River Plate. Definitely, in short, Japan has arrived among the nations."

"As time goes on the race for first place in the Argentine market will probably be between us and the United States, and Japan. As for Germany, her future in South America is as yet uncertain. Once upon a time she supplied Argentina with more than half of all the jewelry and metalware bought from the rest of the world."

"Today the agents of German manufacturers are back again, offering chemicals and dyes, machinery and hardware at 'cut' prices. But abnormal competition of that sort admittedly cannot endure, and in any case it has not materially affected the main struggle between the United States and Great Britain."

"Here there is no reason why Great Britain should not take the lead as emphatically as she has done on the golf links. The Argentine people like us, and they like our methods. Millions of pounds of British capital have helped to develop their country."

"If the prize were the chief share in a yearly trade of one hundred million pounds, it would be well worth the striving for. It is much more than that. The Argentine is like Australia; she has just begun to grow and nobody can mark the limits of her future. Could the wealth of half a century hence of that practically virgin land be accurately foretold today, there are a few among us who would have the imagination to accept a picture of such prosperity. A population rather larger than Belgium's living in a country bigger than the United Kingdom, Germany, France, Spain, Italy and Japan put together. Its possibilities are well nigh as vast as the need of the human race for meat and wheat to eat and wool to wear. It is a share in these future possibilities as much as to win a present ad-

Well Trained Circus Elephants

When Rhoda Royal comes to Brainerd with his big three ring circus as the special attraction for the Elk Fourth of July celebration, he will bring with him some of the best trained elephants in the country. These beasts do almost everything but talk and are as kind and as gentle as kittens.

The circus will arrive early Sunday morning and all the paraphernalia and animals will be moved from the trains to White Park where the tents will be erected. During Sunday afternoon the elephants will be taken into the river for a bath. Elephants are great lovers of the water and swim like fish. While in swimming they play just like kids. During the day the elephants and the other animals in the menagerie will be introduced to "Queen of the Circus", the cow that will be given away at the performances Monday night.

Sunday evening Mr. Royals circus band will play a concert in front of the New Park theatre. Monday morning the circus folks will be up bright and early to prepare for the patriotic parade in which the circus features will form the last section. Three performances instead of the usual two, will be given Monday. The first show will start at 12:30, the second at 2:30 and the third and last at 8 o'clock. The Elks will be in charge at all of the performances.

vantage that the nations strive in amicable rivalry.

"There is room for all, but the question is—who will be first?"

Destroy Glass To Kill Beer Signs

(By United Press)
Buffalo, July 2.—Destruction of thousands of dollars worth of fancy stained glass that adorns Buffalo's erstwhile saloons depends on a decision soon to be made by City Judge Woltz.

Recently a police captain was passing a soft drink establishment that at one time was one of America's many watering troughs and his eagle eye caught sight of a sign which had been worked into the stained window. The sign read: "Wines and Liquors."

The captain arrested the proprietor of the establishment and he pleaded guilty of having art glass bearing such legends. It was argued that such signs are now against the law and Judge Woltz took the case under advisement.

Should the judge rule that the sign is unlawful, it will mean that hundreds of similar fancy glass signs that now embellish soft drink places that—once were saloons will have to be destroyed.

Swiss Coming to U. S.

(By United Press)
Geneva, July 2.—Emigration, which had almost ceased in Switzerland during the war, has since been resumed on an increasing scale. According to a report published by the Federal council, The high water mark of emigration was reached last year when 7,988 Swiss and 1,288 foreigners, resident in Switzerland, left the country. The favorite goal of Swiss emigrants is the United States, Argentina and Brazil come next, followed by Africa and Asia.

Senate Expected to Pass Recast Peace Resolution Today

Washington, July 1.—The compromise resolution terminating the state of war with Germany and Austria was expected by senate leaders to be sent to President Harding today. He is expected to sign the resolution on July 4.

Adopted by the house yesterday, it was debated for an hour in the senate and then put over until today, with assurances of receiving prompt favorable action.

When the president signs the resolution, it is understood the way will be open for the resumption of diplomatic relations with the former enemy countries.

AMERICAN WINS TENNIS MATCH

Wimbledon, England, July 2.—Wm. Tilden the second, today triumphed over B. I. C. Norton, of South Africa, in the finals of the British men's singles tennis match here.

Coming from behind, after losing two sets 4 to 6 and 2 to 6 the champion racket wielder smothered the African in the next two sets winning 6-1 and 6-9. The final and decisive set was hotly contested finally going to the American 7-5.

FIGHT FANS GATHER EARLY IN HUGE JERSEY CITY STADIUM

Both Camps Confident As Fight Hour Draws Near, But
Dempsey Is Favorite

By HENRY L. FARRELL,
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Jersey City, N. J., July 2.—Jersey City teemed today with the eruptions of a human volcano.

It seemed that every soul in the world and his relatives were pouring up out of holes in the ground to see Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier decide the heavyweight championship of the world.

The trains rolling under the Hudson River at minute intervals were jammed from early morning. Ferries on fast schedules carried their thousands of pedestrians and hundreds of automobiles. Trains from the west dumped dusty, travel stained passengers from adjoining states and cities.

Before dawn the usual world's series spectacle was presented outside the huge wooden octagon which Tex Rickard pitched on "Boyle's Thirty Acres" for the big international battle between the American champion and the French war hero and national idol.

Thousands of men and women and children were in the lines extending for blocks away, from the windows where general admission tickets were passed out for five dollars. The line leaders, most of whom brought stools camp chairs and lunch baskets, apparently thought nothing of an all night wait to get a place in the big bowl far back from the ring in which the two contestants would look like two minnows.

Two thousand police, including the Jersey City police force, with additions from New York, Newark and the pick of the sleuths from all the big western cities and mounted state troops preserved order in the crowds and kept the traffic moving on the narrow streets.

Ticket holders who had paid from $10 to $15 for a reserved seat also started filling their places early in the morning stocked with newspapers and magazines to pass away the time.

Listening to the talk every place it was hard to believe that the thousands, it seemed like millions had come to see the fight. It sounded more like the fight was over that the battle had been fought and that the American had finished the Frenchman.

Bets of four to one and five to one that Dempsey would win found no takers. Those with money to wager liked better to back their judgment on the round that it would happen in and how it would take place. Few seemed to figure the Frenchman as having a chance.

Statements from both camps declared the fighters to be in perfect condition to do twelve rounds for a half million dollars or more. Managers of both also expressed their confidence in winning.

"The champion is in perfect physical condition and he is not suffering with nerves. We expect to win just as soon as possible," Jack Kearns manager of the champion said.

"Carpentier is fit and ready to fight the greatest battle of his life. We have the greatest confidence. The fight will not last long," Francois Desamps, manager of the Frenchman said.

Weights of the two principals were not announced this morning but it was expected that the champion would weigh around 190 pounds with the challenger around 175 pounds.

The champion, who moved up to a private home here from his training camp in Atlantic City kept out of sight. Teddy Hayes, his chief trainer, said he took his usual morning exercise, but he was not seen or at least not recognized by any of the crowd. No one except a few chosen friends and some newspapermen were permitted around Dempsey's quarters.

U. S. Leading in Race For South America Trade

By A. J. WEST,
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

London, July 2.—South America is today the brightest jewel in the diadem of trading nations and one of the keenest struggles in the history of commerce is now in progress for possession of a priceless treasure.

This is the opinion of Sir Kingsley Wood, M. P., parliamentary private secretary to the Minister of Health, and an authority on South American trade and affairs.

"The championship is being played mainly in the Argentine Republic," said Sir Kingsley. "The stakes are 100,000,000 pounds and for the moment the United States is winning."

"Great Britain, it is only fair to say, was once the undisputed champion, nor need she be afraid of the reason why she was thrown off her form. It was the war that turned the Argentine competition upside down. It found us first and America second; it left us second; and America first. Not less significant, it sent Japan shooting ahead of Germany, France, Italy and Belgium."

"The arrival of Japan is a surprising event to many Englishmen. In 1915 she sold to Argentina just over 200,000 pounds worth of wares. For the first six months of 1919 the total had leapt up to 3,450,000 pounds and it continues to rise. Chiefly it is a trade in cotton yarn, cotton drill, silk handkerchiefs, glossy silk, calico, socks and an assortment of toys, buttons and lead pencils. Japan, moreover, has opened a bank at Buenos Aires, while several Japanese merchants are now in business there, and she has a line of steamers sailing regularly to the River Plate. Definitely, in short, Japan has arrived among the nations."

"As time goes on the race for first place in the Argentine market will probably be between us and the United States, and Japan. As for Germany, her future in South America is as yet uncertain. Once upon a time she supplied Argentina with more than half of all the jewelry and metalware bought from the rest of the world."

"Today the agents of German manufacturers are back again, offering chemicals and dyes, machinery and hardware at 'cut' prices. But abnormal competition of that sort admittedly cannot endure, and in any case it has not materially affected the main struggle between the United States and Great Britain."

"Here there is no reason why Great Britain should not take the lead as emphatically as she has done on the golf links. The Argentine people like us, and they like our methods. Millions of pounds of British capital have helped to develop their country."

"If the prize were the chief share in a yearly trade of one hundred million pounds, it would be well worth the striving for. It is much more than that. The Argentine is like Australia; she has just begun to grow and nobody can mark the limits of her future. Could the wealth of half a century hence of that practically virgin land be accurately foretold today, there are a few among us who would have the imagination to accept a picture of such prosperity. A population rather larger than Belgium's living in a country bigger than the United Kingdom, Germany, France, Spain, Italy and Japan put together. Its possibilities are well high as vast as the need of the human race for meat and wheat to eat and wool to wear. It is a share in these future possibilities as much as to win a present ad-

Well Trained Circus Elephants

When Rhoda Royal comes to Brainerd with his big three ring circus as the special attraction for the Elks Fourth of July celebration, he will bring with him some of the best trained elephants in the country. These beasts do almost everything but talk and are as kind and as gentle as kittens.

The circus will arrive early Sunday morning and all the paraphernalia and animals will be moved from the trains to White Park where the tents will be erected. During Sunday afternoon the elephants will be taken into the river for a bath. Elephants are great lovers of the water and swim like fish. While in swimming they play just like kids. During the day the elephants, and the other animals in the menagerie will be introduced to "Queen of the Circus", the cow that will be given away at the performances Monday night.

Sunday evening Mr. Royal's circus band will play a concert in front of the New Park theatre. Monday morning the circus folks will be up bright and early to prepare for the patriotic parade in which the circus features will form the last section. Three performances instead of the usual two, will be given Monday. The first show will start at 12:30, the second at 2:30 and the third and last at 8 o'clock. The Elks will be in charge at all of the performances.

vantage that the nations strive in amicable rivalry. "There is room for all, but the question is—who will be first?"

Destroy Glass To Kill Beer Signs

(By United Press)

Buffalo, July 2.—Destruction of thousands of dollars worth of fancy stained glass that adorns Buffalo's erstwhile saloons depends on a decision soon to be made by City Judge Woltz.

Recently a police captain was passing a soft drink establishment that at one time was one of America's many watering troughs and his eagle eye caught sight of a sign which had been worked into the stained window. The sign read: "Wines and Liquors."

The captain arrested the proprietor of the establishment and he pleaded guilty of having art glass bearing such legends. It was argued that such signs are now against the law and Judge Woltz took the case under advisement.

Should the judge rule that the sign is unlawful, it will mean that hundreds of similar fancy glass signs that now embellish soft drink places that—once were saloons will have to be destroyed.

Senate Expected to Pass Recast Peace Resolution Today

Washington, July 1.—The compromise resolution terminating the state of war with Germany and Austria was expected by senate leaders to be sent to President Harding today. He is expected to sign the resolution on July 4.

Adopted by the house yesterday, it was debated for an hour in the senate and then put over until today, with assurances of receiving prompt favorable action.

When the president signs the resolution, it is understood the way will be open for the resumption of diplomatic relations with the former enemy countries.

Wimbledon, England, July 2.—Wm. Tilden the second, today triumphed over B. I. C. Norton, of South Africa, in the finals of the British men's singles tennis match here. The final and decisive set was hotly contested finally going to the American 7-5.
